2015 Top 25 Rankings

It's very early in the high school season. Many schools from cold weather climates have yet to practice outdoors, much less begin regular season competition. In the baseball hotbeds of the southern half of the country, however, many clubs have had chances to force their way up in the rankings, while others have stumbled out of the gate.

Marcus Flower Mound (Texas), Coral Gables (Fla.), and Huntington Beach (Ca.) have all slipped from the preseason top five out of the top 25. While neither school has lived up to their pre-season expectations, each will have ample opportunity to force their way back towards the top.

Significant jumpers in the top 10 include St. Thomas More (La.), Kennesaw (Ga.) Mountain, Mosley (Fla.), and Park Vista (Fla.). With the exception of Park Vista (8-1), each school is undefeated in this young season. Lead by likely Day One draft pick Austin Smith, Park Vista is loaded with Division 1 talent, and, any given day, can compete with any team in the nation.

As more teams begin their seasons, the rankings will really start to take shape in the next few weeks. Additionally, there are several national events on the docket; the Perfect Game High School Showdown (Emerson, Ga.) and the National High School Invitational (Cary, N.C.) will provide clarity toward the top of these rankings.
